

SOVIET AUTHOR TELLS MURDER OF GRAND DUKE

Brother and Successor of Czar Nicholas Executed Brutally by Five Iron Foundry Workers.

DUKE'S SECRETARY IS NOT MENTIONED

Moscow, January 31.—(AP)—Purporting to be the first actual authentic account of the fate of Grand Duke Michael Alexandrovich, who was emperor of Russia for a few hours after the execution of his brother, Nicholas, abdicated in March, 1917, and whose disappearance five weeks before the execution of the Romanoffs in July, 1918, has always remained a profound mystery, appeared today in a book entitled, "Last Days of the Romanoffs."

The book was written by P. M. Bikov, who was president of the Ural soviet in Ekaterinburg at the time the Romanoffs were killed. The author relates how a group of five men, whom he describes as "workers in a Ural iron foundry," arming themselves with false Chukotka credentials, forcibly seized Michael at a hotel in Perm, where he had been detained by the bolsheviks with his English secretary, N. Johnson. Taking the grand duke to a lonely part of the adjacent woods on the night of July 12, 1918, they killed him.

Johnson's Fate Not Mentioned.

Nothing is said concerning the fate of Johnson. In order to conceal all traces, one of the participants telephoned to the local Cheka that "last night unknown persons penetrated the apartments of the emperor's hotel" and carried off Grand Duke Michael in the direction of the Siberian railway.

Bikov adds that the murder was a complete surprise to the Perm officials, who vainly pursued the assassins.

The writer furthermore declares that all accounts heretofore published abroad by Russians concerning the execution of the Romanoffs are "partly hypotheses and partly fiction."

Although Bikov asserts that his

Runs Amuck, Shooting Way Out Hospital

Mining Engineer Then Forces Driver To Speed Away in Taxicab.

Chicago, January 31.—(AP)—E. H. Sacket, 50, Kansas City mining engineer, ran amuck this afternoon, shot his way out of a hospital where he had been taken for examination, entered a taxicab in which were his wife, the driver and the driver's 12-year-old son, and compelled the driver to speed away. Police pursued the cab, but it was lost in traffic.

No one was hurt by the bullets fired by Sacket in the hospital, but a policeman, who tried to prevent his flight, is believed to have wounded Sacket in the hand. Sacket, according to his wife's sister, has had periodic spells of insanity for the past ten years.

He came to Chicago last week, and his wife arrived this morning to take him home. When he appeared at the home of his sister-in-law here this morning, he acted queerly and his wife and a neighbor took him to the Berwyn hospital for examination. When Sacket realized where he was he drew a revolver and started firing. Then he rushed from the building to the cab in which his wife was waiting, together with the driver and the driver's small son, and made his escape.

Special calls have been sent to all police stations to apprehend him, as it is feared he may harm those with him.

DARING SPANIARD FINISHES LAST LAP OF OCEAN FLIGHT

Flier Reaches South American Mainland After Long and Hazardous Trip Over Atlantic.

Pernambuco, Brazil, January 31.—Commander Ramon Franco has completed the last lap of his pioneer route by air across the Atlantic ocean from Spain to the mainland of South America. He now will proceed southward down the South American coast to Buenos Aires by way of Rio de Janeiro.

The flier arrived tired and nearly exhausted. They spent most of Sunday night in their plane off the island of Fernando de Noronha, where the flier battled with high seas in an effort to take them off.

The United States may see the Ne Plus Ultra and her gallant crew before they return to Spain. Franco said he had not definitely decided but that he hoped to be able to cross the Andes from Buenos Aires and then to fly to the United States by way of Chile, Peru, Panama and Cuba. In that event, he would return to Spain by way of the Azores, which was the route followed by the U. S. Navy's NC-4 in 1919.

ARGENTINA IS AROUSED TO GREATEST EXCITEMENT

Buenos Aires, January 31.—Commander Ramon Franco's 3,863-mile flight across the Atlantic ocean from Spain to the mainland of South America has aroused Argentina to a pitch of excitement unequalled since the armistice was signed seven years ago.

Following arrival of news Sunday afternoon that Franco had completed the last Atlantic stage of his flight and had successfully landed at Pernambuco, street crowds took up the shout "Viva Franco!" and then formed for a parade behind huge Spanish and Argentine flags carried by prespiring volunteers.

Franco and his fellow fliers will be feted as not even Crown Prince Humbert, of Italy, or the Prince of Wales were entertained during their visits. Foreign cities are clamoring for a glimpse of the Spaniards.

LEADING LAYMEN MEET HERE TODAY

Sir Richard Winfrey and William Ward, Prominent British Citizens, Arrive in Atlanta.

Two distinguished citizens of Great Britain—Sir Richard Winfrey and William Ward—arrived in Atlanta Sunday to take part in the men's regional conference to be held in Wesley Memorial church, beginning at 7:30 o'clock tonight. Sixteen of these conferences are being held in the southern states, under the auspices of the general board of lay activities of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, of which G. L. Morelock is general secretary.

The major themes to be discussed at this conference are missions, stewardship and brotherhood. The missionary message will be delivered by Bishop W. B. Beauchamp, who is in charge of the work of the Methodist Church, south, in Europe. Dr. J. E. Crawford, who is the author of a well-known volume entitled, "Christian Stewardship," will present that fundamental principle of Christian life. Fred T. Barnett will present the interests of the Wesley brotherhood, the official men's organization of the Southern Methodist church.

William Ward, of London, England, will deliver the opening address of the conference at the first session tonight. Mr. Ward is one of the world's greatest laymen, author of a number of volumes, including "Brotherhood and Democracy," a business man of wide experience and withal has found time to assist in development of the great Christian movements of Europe. Until recently he was active president and is now honorary president of the World Brotherhood Federation and was one of the pioneers in the foundation of the Christian Brotherhood movement. Not only has he been one of the most

MISSISSIPPIAN DECLARES $350,000,000 CUT NOW PROVIDED CAN BE INCREASED BY $150,000,000.

Washington, January 31.—President Coolidge's prediction that further tax reductions would be possible within the next few years has encouraged democrats in the senate to demand that the present revenue bill cut the nation's tax burden by $500,000,000.

Senator Pat Harrison, Mississippi democrat, leading the fight for greater reductions, has declared that the $350,000,000 cut now provided in the bill passed by the house and before the senate can be increased by $150,000,000 without endangering the treasury department's financial program.

Harrison pointed out that the treasury showed a surplus when that measure was adopted although when that measure was reduced it was contended by many that a deficit would result.

Harrison has proposed a series of amendments which would bring about the increased cut.

Just how far Harrison can get with his changes depends largely upon the reaction to Coolidge's address at the tenth regular meeting of the business organization of the government Saturday night. A cry similar to Harrison's was raised in the house by Representative Garner, Texas democrat, ranking minority member of the house ways and means committee, when the lower body was considering the bill, but the proposal was not pushed.

The republican majority will oppose any attempt to boost the cut to half a billion dollars. Chairman Smoot, Utah, republican, of the senate finance committee, has admitted that the present bill may permit a

LOVE MISSIVES OF VICTOR HUGO SOLD AT AUCTION

(Copyright, 1926, by The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Paris, January 31.—A complete record of one of the great loves of literary history over a period of 50 years was sold today for 18,000 francs (about $750) when the letters of Juliette Drouet to Victor Hugo went to the hammer in a municipal auction house.

Referring once to these letters from 1823 and 1883, the author of Les Misérables said "our life is there set down day by day, thought by thought. All you have dreamed is there; all you have suffered is there. They are so many charming little mirrors, each of which reflects one facet of your beautiful soul."

British Give Wild Welcome To American Rescue Steamer

THOUSANDS WHOOP APPRECIATION AT PLYMOUTH

(Copyright, 1926, by The United News.)

Plymouth, Eng., January 31.—Captain George Fried, American master of the S. S. President Roosevelt, has delivered the seamen of the sunken British freighter Antiope to their wives, children, sweethearts and friends.

The stirring tale of a sinking ship and a heroic rescue ended with a smashing drama of farewell as the saved men left the liner.

Thousands of wildly cheering Englishmen and women whooped a welcome to the Roosevelt as she dropped anchor to await a tender Sunday afternoon. The motley crew of the Antiope, each wearing a little American flag, arrived home garbed in odds and ends of apparel given by the passengers of the Roosevelt. Cheers from the waterfront and a triumphant shout from the steam siren of the Roosevelt marked the arrival of the American liner.

The piers were swarming with back-slapping men and excited women. Two men and six boats were missing from the Roosevelt, but otherwise she was whole.

The Roosevelt steamed in Sunday morning and was immediately boarded by an official delegation, including Captain Goldsmith, of H. M. S. Doug-

I. C. Railroad Made To Accept Land Now Worth Millions

PRESIDENT MARKHAM SAYS IN ADDRESS

Chicago, January 31.—(AP)—A story of how a city council, eager to shift expenses, forced an unwilling railroad to accept lake shore property that is today worth millions of dollars, was told the Chicago Women's club by C. M. Markham, president of the Illinois Central, yesterday.

In 1881, when Chicago was a city of 30,000, the Illinois Central applied for property on which to build its lines into the city. It wanted land along the banks of the Chicago river, now not nearly so valuable as the lake shore.

But the shrewd city council saw in the proposed entrance of the railroad a chance to relieve the taxpayers of a heavy burden, said Mr. Markham. At that time, the fashionable residence district was South

Michigan avenue, running directly along the lake shore.

It cost the city a pretty penny to keep the waters from washing away its proudest street. The city fathers, figuring by putting a railroad between the avenue and the lake, they could force the railroad for its own protection to keep up breakwaters, compelled the reluctant Illinois Central to take the entire south lake front, from Randolph to 50th street. The breakwaters and dikes were built and maintained by the road, and the city was relieved from all expense of that sort.

"Only in comparatively recent years has the city sensed a loss," said Mr. Markham.

VICTIM'S FATHER MARRIES SISTER OF BOY IN TAIL

YOUTHFUL VICTIM DIES AT HOSPITAL

Father of Boy Who Was Killed and Bride Pay Visit to John P. Thacker at Police Station.

Youthful play with an automatic pistol caused the death of Harold Johns, 14, of 123 Estoria street, early Sunday morning and the holding of its companion, John P. Thacker, 16, of Elizabeth, at police station on a murder charge, until Coroner Paul Donohue completes his investigation today.

The accidental shooting occurred on the same day that A. J. Johns, the father of the boy who was killed, was married in Etowah, Tenn., to Miss Lucile Thacker, the sister of the youth now held in connection with the killing.

According to the story told Call Officers John G. Bowman and L. P. Higgins, by young Thacker, the boys were in the home playing with the pistol, tossing it up in the air and catching it. They had devised the game of seeing who could grip it quickest as it fell.

After playing with it for some time it came young Thacker's turn to catch it. As he caught it, it exploded and the Johns boy sank to the floor.

"I then saw Harold fall to the floor, throwing his hand to his left chest," said Thacker. "I was frightened by the explosion of the gun but still thought Harold was only pretending that he was hit. I rushed over to him and found he was wounded. I gave the

Water and Gas Mains Broken By Big Cave-In

Two Sides of Excavation for Theater Building in New York Collapse.

New York, January 31.—(AP)—Two sides of the excavation for the new Paramount theater building, fronting on Times square, between Forty-third and Forty-fourth streets, gave way tonight during the height of the after-thunder rush, breaking a water main and a gas main and threatening to cause a cave-in of the surrounding sidewalks and streets. Tons of water poured from a 24-inch main into the excavation.

Gas from the other broken main, 12 inches in diameter, could be detected blocks from the square, and to lessen the possibility of an explosion, police ordered pedestrians to extinguish cigarettes and cigars in the immediate vicinity of the cave-in.

The excavation, about 50 feet deep, was almost half filled with water shortly before midnight. The shafting, comprised of wooden beams, which upheld the sidewalk on the Times square side, threatened at any moment to be washed away by the flood. In that event, it was believed, a complete cave-in of the sidewalk and possibly part of the street would result.

COLONEL MITCHELL PREPARES TO DON CIVILIAN CLOTHES

Washington, January 31.—(AP) Colonel William Mitchell prepared today to celebrate his return from military to civilian status, effective tomorrow, when he will be officially notified that his resignation from the army has been accepted by President Coolidge, by working out plans for renewed attacks on the national defense system.

By delaying until tomorrow the official notification of the acceptance of the resignation, which has been expected to free the air officer from military ties at 12 o'clock tonight, war department officials added another day to the armistice-like silence that has been maintained by Colonel Mitchell for almost four months. At the same time, however, they gave the colonel the advantage of an extra day in which to improve the position he will take when hostilities are commenced.

Five lay preachers in his native England, but he has addressed thousands of men in religious meetings in various countries of continental Europe.

Mr. Ward is a man of magnetic personality and has given away the greater part of his fortune to the promotion of the brotherhood movement and other Christian work throughout the world.

Sir Richard Wainwright, who will address the conference Tuesday night, has been a member of the British parliament for more than 20 years and was a member of the ministry of agriculture in the Lloyd George government during the world war. He has made a distinct contribution to the development of the agricultural interests of England, his most notable achievement along this line having been accomplished at a critical hour in the world war when England was threatened with a shortage of food as a result of the destructive work of the German submarines. Several millions of acres of meadow land were converted into farm lands by use of a vast army of tractors, food crops were planted, and England was saved from starvation.

All sessions of this conference are open to the general public. Mr. Barnett will speak of the Wesleyan brotherhood Tuesday morning, and Dr. Crawford will speak on "Christian Stewardship." Bishop Beauchamp will tell the story of the achievements of the Methodist church in Poland, Belgium and Czechoslovakia.

Round table discussions will take place Tuesday afternoon on the subjects of "Stewardship and Brotherhood." The program of the conference follows:

To fish and meats and to many vegetables, add a lemon garnish and you'll make them better foods.

For garnished foods are more tempting, and tempting foods excite the appetite. That starts the digestive juices flowing. Digestion is half done when that has been accomplished. Food properly digested yields all their nourishment and nourishment is health.

Then, too, there are vitamins in lemon juice, and organic salts and acids which are direct digestive aids.

And lemon juice, though slightly "acid," has an alkaline reaction in the blood to offset the acid reaction due to fish and meat.

YOUNG BOY IS SHOT TO DEATH WITH GUN

alarm and the neighbors summoned an ambulance and called police.

According to the story told police by the boys, Harold's father is a brakeman on the Louisville & Nashville railroad. He left on his run to Elmore Saturday morning and Miss Thacker left Saturday afternoon to marry him there.

Harold Johns, Cecil Johns, S. and a negro boy, Jesse Slosson, were the only ones in the home at the time. A Grady hospital ambulance and police were summoned. The Johns boy died shortly after reaching the hospital.

With a bullet wound through his left chest, Harold had suffered loss of blood and both lungs were double punctured, physicians stated.

"We were pitching the pistol in the air and catching it as it came down and seeing which could grip it the quickest," Thacker told the officers. "The safety catch must have been knocked off when it came my time. I tossed it in the air. As it fell, I caught it. My finger must have touched the trigger for as I caught it, it exploded."

Ambulance in Accident.
The driver of the ambulance, Frank Trammell, realizing the desperate condition of the boy, attempted to make a last trip to the hospital. However, as he was driving on Gaskill street he crashed into a machine driven by H. E. Brown, of 47 Harold street. Brown's car was badly injured and the rear wheels of the Brown automobile were crushed.

According to Call Officers Bowman and Brown, Harold was struck by the cross Gaskill street on Powell street in front of the ambulance. Trammell could not escape striking the car, they declared.

The body of Harold Johns was taken to the undertaking establishment of Harry G. Poole. Funeral arrangements have not been made in addition to his father and brother, the boy is survived by another brother, Lee Johns, 19, also an employee of the L. & N. railroad.

Parents Grief Stricken.
Mr. and Mrs. Johns returned to Atlanta Sunday night after being notified of the tragedy. They were grief-stricken over the accidental death of Harold.

They went direct to the police station where they visited the bride's brother, Cecil Johns, who had been carried to the station by Captain A. H. McQuinn. However, he was in the hospital, until the arrival of the father, was taken to his home.

John P. Thacker is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thacker, who live on Powell street. His father is a stone cutter for the Kennesaw Marble company.

ABSENCE OF PARTY LINES CAUSES WORRY

able to help the administration Republicans with the world court. They are ready to do the same with the tariff reduction bill except on the point of increasing the total tax cut from the $350,000,000 in the bill to $500,000,000.

"My father would turn over in his grave at this vanishing of party lines," said Mrs. Medill McCormick, daughter of that famous politician, Mark Hanna, and widow of Senator Medill McCormick, who was one of the irreconcilable Republicans in the League of Nations fight.

Ellihu Root, one of the republican elite statesmen, has just appealed for a return to good old-fashioned party government, lamenting that politicians seem only to use parties to get into office and feel no obligation to stand by principles.

And Chauncey Depew, unable to resist a little levity, predicts a non-partisan ticket with Coolidge for president and Al Smith for vice president.

But it is no joking matter among the practical politicians here. Whether the country does not care then so much as the difficulty of raising campaign funds and maintaining morale in their party organizations when there is a shortage of issues. Issues are the advertising slogans of politics and it is difficult to make an effective selling talk to a prospective campaign contributor or group of voters without them.

Democrats have hope of reviving the tariff issue but their preliminary maneuvers have met with indifference because of the thriving condition of business. A turn in the business trend might put life in the tariff fight but for the moment the only response comes from distressed farmers who are hoping really for export legislation rather than repeal of protective tariffs.

There is no party issue over tax reduction except that the democrats ask for a bigger sop to the little fellow than the republicans want to give just now. Party lines do not apply to immigration restriction, disposition of Muscle Shoals, dealing with the coal strike, or the general armament limitation conference. The fights over the tariff commission and the revamping of the federal trade commission come from within the republican party. Debt settlements have had general support from both parties.

Senator Walsh, Montana democrat, has endeavored to stem up the aluminum inquiry and democrats are fighting the appointments of McCann to a federal judgeship and Woodcock to the interstate commerce commission.

At the conclusion of Dr. Eddy's address Dr. Charles W. Daniel, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, read a resolution which was unanimously adopted by the congregation.

The resolutions pledged the great audience to support the Christian council composed of 73 various churches of the city; to unite and support the committee on interracial relations and its activities and last, but not least, to register, vote and cheerfully perform all duties of citizenship.

Dr. J. Sproule Lyons, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, in a brief talk appealed to the congregation to make a contribution to aid in carrying on the work begun by "Religious Emphasis week" and to contribute toward a fund to be given the speakers who have appeared in the various

The box office sale starts Thursday morning.

Loew's Grand.

Lola Brava, internationally famous Spanish dancer, and her company of nine people will head a strong bill of vaudeville which opens Monday at Loew's Grand theater. Miss Brava will introduce a wide variety of novelties in Spanish dances and her assistants will offer a pleasing program of dances, songs and musical numbers. Other acts are Julian Hall and Kathleen Dexter in a musical skit. Phil Davis, veteran blackface comedian, with a grail of new songs, new jokes and new stories; Lou Brown and Muriel Rogers in comedy sketch entitled "The Chubman," and the Aerial Clarks, society athletes. Tom Mix and his wonder horse, "Tony," in "The Lucky Horseshoe," the Loew feature picture.

Howard Theater.

Paramount's latest screen classic, "The Vanishing American," which opens at the Howard today for a week's engagement, is dedicated with prejudice to the last of the noble race, with Richard Dix in the title part. "The Vanishing American" is typically historical. Its appeal will last so long as the romance of the early days of this country lasts; it will be hailed by educators, scholars, mothers and fathers as one of the finest motion pictures of the day. In conjunction with this mammoth attraction, the Howard orchestra, by Irving Berlin, will present another overture, "American Fantasy," by Victor Herbert. This feature consists of a variety of popular airs, and Maxmillian Pilzer, guest conductor, will direct.

The Metropolitan.

On the stage it was known as "Caesar's Wife," while on the screen it is called "Infatuation." Being "Infatuation," by Perry Marmont. A strange tale about a man who will not give his wife freedom after she admits it is another man's lover. This is a warning in "Infatuation" that you should see.

We are supposed to regulate our dispositions so as to scatter merry sunshine. But it is hard to compete with the man who scatters merry moonshine.—Washington Star.

GEORGE VERE HOBART, NOTED AUTHOR, DIES

Cumberland, Md., January 31.—(AP) George Vere Hobart, humorist and author or co-author of more than 50 musical comedy librettos and plays, died in the Allegheny hospital here today. Death was attributed to a general breakdown. Mr. Hobart was 50 years old.

Hobart's most pronounced stage success was the morality play, "Experience." Among the best known of his other plays were "Our Mrs. McChesney," written for Ethel Barrymore; "Miss Prim," designed as a vehicle for Marie Dressler; "Sonny," "Bud-dies" and "Sweet Sixteen." More recently he had been writing scenarios. Mr. Hobart was born in Cape Breton, Nova Scotia, January 16, 1867. His journeyings as a telegrapher took him to Cumberland, Md., where he founded the Semitar, in which his earliest humorous sketches and stories appear.

A year later Hobart went to Baltimore, where he continued his writings for the Herald, American and News. In the latter paper he originated the "Dinkenspell" papers, which gained him nation-wide fame. During this period he turned his attention to the writing of librettos, plays and humorous books for children.

New Process To Manufacture Both Aluminum, Fertilizer At Muscle Shoals Under Test

Iron-Aluminum Alloy, To Be Produced From Bauxite, Needed in Large Quantities.

Washington, January 31.—(AP)—Government scientists have begun a series of experiments designed to show whether both aluminum and fertilizer can be produced in quantity, under a new process at the government's plant at Muscle Shoals.

Thus far the inquiry has not reached a decisive stage. Some of the scientific men concerned in the experiments are optimistic over the possibilities, but others are skeptical in view of the intricate technical obstacles involved.

The new process was devised by Dr. F. G. Cottrell, of the fixed nitrogen research laboratory of the department of agriculture. It grew out of a study of the deposits of bauxite, which exist in Alabama and neighboring states, within easy reach of the Muscle Shoals plant.

The aid of the bureau of mines was enlisted some time ago and small scale experiments have been conducted by the bureau in cooperation with the Yelland Corporation of America.

The result has been inconclusive, although the expert in charge has reported that he has reason to believe the desired end can be accomplished when a carload lot of bauxite from the southern fields becomes available for tests on a comprehensive scale.

In the near future, when the new Pittsburgh electro-metallurgical laboratory of the bureau of mines becomes available for use, it is planned to conduct large-scale experiments.

HOW TO GET RID OF MUSCLE-LAMENESS

Beach Patrolman Advises this Treatment

After exposure to dampness and cold, and after hard exercise, muscles will stiffen up and get lame.

A beach patrolman at Atlantic City writes that he has found this treatment the quickest and most effective way to take out the stiffness and pain.

"Just rub on a little of Sloan's Liniment. Don't rub. It's the liniment—not the rubbing—that helps. You'll get relief right away. I've tried all sorts of other things, but nothing results like Sloan's."

Hundreds of letters like this tell of the wonderful relief from muscular pain that Sloan's gives.

Sloan's gets results because it doesn't just "rub" the place that hurts. It brings a healing stream of fresh new blood. Quickly and surely it carries off the "fatigue-poisons," takes out stiffness and drives away the aches and pains.

Get a bottle today and have it on hand. All druggists—35 cents.

DR. JOHN R. SAMPEY HERE TO ADDRESS BAPTIST COUNCIL

Dr. John R. Sampey will reach Atlanta this morning, coming from Lexington, Ky., where he filled an engagement Sunday. He will speak at 6:30 o'clock tonight before the Atlanta Baptist Council.

More than 2,000 people unable to gain entrance to the church for the two services of Ulline Mabel Ulline, child evangelist, Sunday at the Gospel tabernacle.

Forty-five minutes before the young evangelist started at the afternoon service, Fire Chief W. B. Cady ordered the doors of the building closed and instructed that no more people be admitted. The auditorium was already packed to the doors and all available standing room was taken, except for the center aisles, which were kept clear in obedience to fire regulations.

Some of the more persistent of those outside hoisted umbrellas and remained, despite the rain.

Those who had to be turned away were invited to return later in the week.

Seek City Auditorium.
Inquiry will be made today to find out if the city auditorium may be secured, so it will be engaged in order to accommodate the crowds, one of the evangelistic party announced.

The young evangelist polled the congregation to find out how many desired to attend.

awarded to leaders in the drive. As announced by Commander Slaton, one will be presented to the colonel who first completes the organization of his regiment, one to the major and one to the captain who have secured the most members, and one to the individual warrior who obtains the largest number of new members.

The drive organization will consist of five regiments, each under the command of a colonel who will have three majors and 15 captains. Each captain will command a team of a maximum of 20 members.

The objective of the drive is the local post of the legion, which is Atlanta's quota in the nation-wide campaign of the American Legion for 10,000 members during 1926. As an added incentive to the Atlanta membership campaign, it is pointed out by Commander Slaton that the national convention to Atlanta in 1928 if this quota is reached within the four days of the drive. Atlanta is a leading bidder for the national convention, which will bring in the neighborhood of 50,000 world war veterans to this city post officials stated.

As expressed by Commander Slaton that ex-service men throughout the city will bring prompt support to the local post in making a successful bid for the national convention.

Second Half of Program.
Three numbers from Macdowell's "Indian Suite" opened the second half of the program. These are built entirely on the music of the American Indian and they are among the greatest of folk music writings.

The "Song of the Volga Boatmen" has become one of the best known pieces of music in the repertoire, since Chaliapin began singing it. Sunday the orchestra played it with an exquisite finish that illustrated once again why it is so well liked. A companion piece of Lynski, which was new to this hearer, "Orgies of the Spirits" proved exactly what the title led you to believe. It was a magnificent thing, magnificently played.

Then, to close, came that fine old "Marche Militaire," breathing the spirit of military elation by Franz Schubert.

Conductor Leide is drawing near the close of his third season as the head of the Atlanta Symphony. In brief announcement, asking support for the next season, which begins in October, Colonel William L. Peck drew applause when he mentioned that Mr. Leide had been engaged for the coming season. The manner in which the members of the orchestra applauded their leader proved that he is a popular with them as with the music-loving public of the city.

Season Nears Close.
The next concert to be given on Sunday, February 14, is the eighth and last of the season. It closes a year even more successful, both from the artistic standpoint and from the view of appreciative support by Atlanta, than the two which have preceded it.

The program for February 14 follows:
1. Thirteenth Hungarian Rhapsody (Liszt).
2. Selection from "The Marriage of Figaro" (Mozart).
3. Peer Gynt Suite No. 1 (Grieg).
4. Ave Maria (Gounod).
5. Nela Ballet (Debussy).
6. Entrance March from "Queen of Sheba" (by request) (Goldmark).

Mrs. Walker Praises Club for Bringing Big Orchestra Here

Cordial praise of the Atlanta Music club's decision to present the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra in two concerts at the Atlanta auditorium next Monday, February 8, was voiced Sunday afternoon by Mrs. George Walker, secretary of the Atlanta Symphony orchestra and leader in the establishment of the local organization which has given Sunday afternoon concerts here regularly for three years.

"Too many people do not realize that a great orchestra, worthy in every respect of world-wide recognition, is really a practical goal for a city of Atlanta's size," Mrs. Walker said after the highly successful concert of the Atlanta Symphony Sunday afternoon.

"The Minneapolis orchestra, supported by a city which is now little larger than Atlanta and which was already famous when Minneapolis was a smaller town than Atlanta is now, is a brilliant and living proof that Atlanta can have such an orchestra and should encourage more active and wider support here to that end," she asserted.

The Minneapolis orchestra is to be presented in a children's matinee concert at 3:30 o'clock next Monday afternoon, the program being built around selections from the public school "music memory contest."

The night concert at 8:30 o'clock will include Goldmark's "Rustic Wedding" symphony; Wagner's overture to the opera, "The Mastersingers of Nuremberg," and Henri Verbrugghen's orchestration of Chopin's "Polonaise in A Flat."

BURNING HELL IDEA REPULSIVE TO BURBANK

lars not speak his free thoughts is a slave," I nominated myself as an "infidel" as a challenge to thought for those who are asleep. The world is harmless if properly used. Its stigma has been heaped upon it by unthinking people, who associate it with the bogey devil and his malicious works. The devil has never existed, nor can he have always used by own conscience, not the dictum of any cult. If my words have awakened thoughts in narrow minds and petrified hypocrites, it will have done its appointed work.

After his talk, hundreds of members of the audience filed past Mr. Burbank and shook his hand.

"I love to look into the fearless, honest, trusting eyes of a child who so long has been, by the theologians, convinced and bound in iron and steel, damned at birth," said Mr. Burbank. "Do you believe all our teachers without question? I cannot. We must think for ourselves and hold fast to that which is good."

"The universal voice of science tells us that if we misuse this wonderful body, mind or the all-pervading spirit of good, that the consequences fall upon ourselves here and now."

"Why not accept these plain facts and guide our lives accordingly? We must not be deceived by the leaders of the blind, calmly expecting to be saved by any one except by the kingdom within ourselves."

Save by Own Efforts.
"The truly honest and brave ones know that if saved, it must be by their own efforts. The truth hurts for awhile, as when an old useless tooth is removed, but health and happiness may be restored by the painful removal of the disturbing member."

"I reiterate: The religion of most people is what they would like to believe, not what they do believe, and only a very few stop to examine its foundation. The idea that a good hell is utterly inhumane to me. I don't want to have anything to do with such a God. I am a lover of man, and of Christ as a man and his work, and of all things that help humanity, but nevertheless just as He was an infidel then, I am an infidel today. I prefer to claim the right to worship the indefinite, ever-changing, Almighty God of this vast universe, as revealed to us gradually, step by step, by the demonstrable truths of our Saviour since."

Great Leaders Never Die.
"Do you think Christ or Mohammed, Confucius, Baal, or even the gods of ancient mythology, are dead? No. Do you think Pericles, Macbeth, Aurelius, Moses, Shakespeare, Spinoza, Aristotle, Socrates, Plato, Empedocles, Humboldt, Darwin, Tolstoy, Franklin, Emerson, are dead? No. Their very personality lives and will live forever in our lives, and all who are to follow us. All of them are with us today. No one lives who is not influenced more or less by these great ones, according to the capacity of the cup of knowledge, which they bring to these ever-flowing foundations to be filled."

GRAND DUKE'S MURDER DESCRIBED BY AUTHOR

description of the exile and murder of the Romanoffs is based on first hand, personal knowledge of data in the official archives of the Ekaterinburg soviet, he adds little of vital moment to what is already known of the death of the emperor and his family.

Why Bodies Were Burned.
Explaining why the murderers burned the bodies, he says the authorities feared that the superstitious peasants would believe the bodies as holy relics if the bodies were allowed to remain intact.

Therefore, in order to prevent this, the bodies were incinerated, the charred bones and ashes being thrown into a swamp on the outskirts of Ekaterinburg, where they still remain and where, Bikov adds, "I hope they have rotted."

The commission appointed by Admiral Kolchak to investigate the crime, he goes on, failed to locate this spot, but afterwards investigators located what they supposed to be the ashes and relics of the Romanoffs and sent them, together with several articles from the house in which they were shot, as heirlooms to the British king, who is related to the Romanoffs.

Diamonds in Garments.
The author asserts that many diamonds were found sewn in the garments of the royal family, especially those of the empress and her four daughters, "these jewels being in the form of buttons in their bodices."

After the murder these jewels, Romanoff correspondence, diaries and all documents and records of the house where they were incorporated in the official records.

Brand Is Opposed To New Valdosta Judicial Division

Washington, January 31.—(Special).—Representative Brand is with-holding introduction of a bill in the house creating a new judicial district in Georgia, because he is opposed to creation of the Valdosta division and placing it in the middle district as provided in the bill introduced in the senate by Senator George.

Judge Brand, who is a member of the subcommittee appointed by the Georgia delegation to draft the bill, said he is opposed to the provision because it will create an emergency and defeat the purpose for which the measure is drawn.

Brand explained that the provision creating the Valdosta division was not in the original bill as drafted by Senator George, but was inserted in the bill by the senator at the request of some members of the Georgia delegation. Nothing had been said until quite recently about creating the Valdosta division, he said.

"It appears that if the Valdosta division is established and put in the middle district it will leave 17 counties in the middle district, 44 counties in the northern district and only 40 in the southern district, which would leave too few counties in the district as provided in the bill introduced in the middle district," Brand said.

According to the report of Patrolman H. E. King, Simmons' machine was wrecked when struck by an automobile driven by an unidentified white man who left the scene without giving his name, or offering any assistance. The license number of the car was furnished police with the request that a case of reckless driving be made.

Mrs. Eva L. Brown, of 753 Whitehall street, received severe bruises about the shoulder, hip and body late Saturday night when struck by an automobile driven by an unidentified driver who failed to stop. The accident occurred at Gordon and Lee streets.

According to the report of Patrolman C. F. Wells and M. A. Hornsby, after striking the woman the driver of the car increased the speed of his machine. The license number of the automobile was furnished the officers by Mrs. Brown.

TWO ARE INJURED IN AUTO CRASHES

J. D. Simmons, of 1188 DeKalb avenue, was badly bruised about noon Sunday as the result of an automobile crash at the corner of Forsyth and Mitchell streets.

According to a report filed by Patrolman H. E. King, Simmons' machine was wrecked when struck by an automobile driven by an unidentified white man who left the scene without giving his name, or offering any assistance. The license number of the car was furnished police with the request that a case of reckless driving be made.

WHAT happens when a physic fails to work? You are in worse condition than before, because the poisonous waste matter has had an opportunity to pollute the blood and spread a million disease germs throughout your body.

Time counts when you need a physic. You must be sure of the physic you take. Men and women who know, always take Pluto Water for themselves, and will give their children nothing else, because they can depend on Pluto. Pluto works every time, and it performs every function a physic should perform:

1st, it is sure. 2nd, it works quickly. 3rd, it is gentle and pleasant. 4th, it is a water laxative—(and water laxatives, which flush the system, are recognized as the best). 5th, the amount taken can be varied to suit the condition.

Pluto Water is the 100 per cent physic. It is bottled at French Lick Springs, French Lick, Indiana, and is a recognized curative agent for kidney, liver and stomach troubles, rheumatism and nervous disorders.

Physicians Prescribe It

Weather Strips Do Much To Make Homes Comfortable

Most of the people in the south when they read of extreme cold weather in the north and wonder how people manage at all to keep warm in their houses and especially at the down to 20, 30, 40 and even 50 degrees below zero.

Those that have lived in parts of the world where the winters are extra severe know that the main reason why people sleep warm in a stormy night with the wind blowing a 70- or 80-mile gale and it many degrees below zero, is that their houses are built snug and tight with no big open cracks around every window and door to allow the cold air to come in like we have in most of the houses and buildings here in the south.

Long Experience Teaches.
They have learned in their long experience that Jack Frost and his grandfather, Old Man Zero, can cause a lot of discomfort, sickness, a big waste of fuel, by coming in through many little or big cracks and they began to put what they called cold weather strips around where they would do the most good. While these strips, as the average home owner put them on, were all right in extreme cold weather, in many cases, necessitated the windows remaining closed all winter and did not permit the free circulation of air as it was needed. So, these home-made weather strips did good on severe cold days and did harm on mild or warm days.

Enter Atlanta Man First in Field.
About 48 years ago a wise fellow named F. A. Hickson, while living in London, Canada, conceived the idea of growing out of the side of the house and doors about 1-2 inch in the middle of the stile as these side-pieces are called, and then he nailed a small strip, a little trifle smaller on the side of the window or door frame. This permitted the window to slide up or down or the door to open and close and yet be practically air tight.

Mr. Hickson did not take out a patent on his idea, but he moved to Rochester, N. Y., and later applied for a patent upon what is now known as a Dado Saw to cut out the grooves in window and door frames.

Big Mill Supply Company Sees Record-Breaking Year

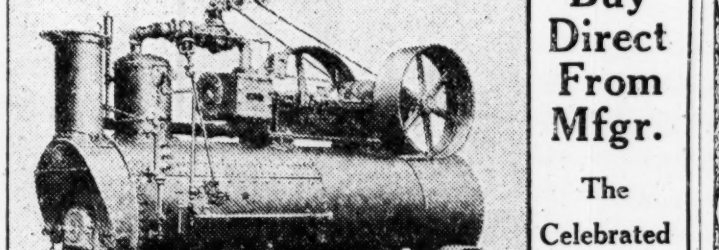

We are looking forward to the best year since we have been in business, stated R. L. Barrett and H. D. Watson of the Barrett-Watson company, dealers in general mill supplies at 35-A South Forsyth street, Saturday afternoon to a representative of the business review of this paper.

Business for January has started off extra good and it was stated that every indication is that this will be a record-breaking year for them as their customers in all parts of the state are writing very encouraging letters concerning the splendid prospect outlook in their sections.

Both of these gentlemen predicted that Georgia was due to reap its biggest benefit this year of the great numbers of people coming to the south on the many advantages of Georgia, in soil, pasture lands, timber, minerals, climate and accessibility evident that great numbers of new people with new money and initiative will be moving into this state this year and they, in turn, will induce others to settle in our great state as the years go by.

Their two road men, in Georgia, Frank Baldwin in north Georgia, and J. M. George in south Georgia, report business especially good. Mr. Baldwin, who has been with this popular firm for several years, and handling strong lines of this company, is increasing his large number of customers every year.

Mr. George is an expert engineer and was for many years superintendent of the Monthly Water and Light company. He is very popular all over south Georgia with water, light, oil and saw mill people, and very often
